NEW YORK—With Milton Berle vowing to cut his show down to three weeks out of four, NBC is scrambling for a "name" for the fourth week slot. Best bet at present is the teaming up of old TV hand Eddie Cantor with rising young Broadway star Dolores Gray. . . . Dave Garroway's "Today," for which dire things were predicted at its debut, is now prospering, proving once again that Old Tiger gets involved in nothing but successes. . . . Cornelia Otis Skinner, now standing 'em in the aisles with her one-woman show "Paris '90" is getting the eye from CBS execs. Her recent solo appearance on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" was a refreshing change of pace from the usual cluttered dramatic sketch. . . . Summer replacement for Paul Winchell-Jerry Mahoney will be the much shoved around Quiz Kids, who spent the winter on a rival network.

GARROWAY

Drew Pearson, who goes in for sensations, has scheduled a program which will show the effects of an atomic bomb dropped on Manhattan island. By means of film trickery, Gotham will be shown both during and after the blast. . . . President Truman's personally conducted tour of the White House was a great success. Daughter Margaret's quip: With three networks covering, how could he miss. Harry's piano playing was just as good as Margaret's most recent TV accompanist, Jimmy Durante. Who knows? 1953's top video team might be Truman & Truman. . . . The grasp of TV on the American home is shown by a recent ARB survey which found "I Love Lucy" being seen by 29 million.

TRUMAN

"Duffy's Tavern," the fine old radio standby, is running into snags in its conversion to TV. On film, the show was budgeted for $40,000 but the costs ran up to $55,000. The show's debut has been set back from its original date of May 31 to June 21. . . . Johnny McPhee, panelist on "Twenty Questions" said it: The only two certainties in life are death and taxes and it wouldn't be so bad if they came in that order. . . . "Celanese Theater," loaded down with most of TV's awards for top dramatic show, is exiting ABC and will be seen next year on NBC. It'll probably alternate with another new NBC series, "Studio Miner," the show produced by ex "Studio One" genius Worthington Miner. In the meantime the alternate for "Celanese" on ABC, "Pulitzer Prize Playhouse" is due to be axed completely. Too much competition from the Wednesday night fights.

McPHEE

Zsa-Zsa Gabor, author of the famous advice for girls, "Be sexy all the time," looks like a good bet for a show of her own next fall over CBS. . . . New York's famed Algonquin Hotel is the subject of a new TV series to start next fall and possibly starring Douglas Fairbanks Jr. The hotel was a hangout for many of the top writers in the U.S. during the thirties. . . . Jack Benny and Dennis Day are set for a five-week tour of the British Isles with a three week stand at the famous London Palladium where all American stars seem to do SRO biz. . . . Claude Kirchner, ringmaster of ABC's "Super Circus," insists that his first job was as a tailor in a lawyer's office—he used to press suits.

Letters to the Editor

All letters must be signed, with addresses. Names will be withheld if requested.

My pet peeve—News commentators who bother the public with their middle names. Who cares? Two names are enough.

Chicago, Ill. — MRS. JOHN LAMB

Would like to answer Mrs. Margaret Erickson of Michigan City, Indiana as to the Great Godfrey. Maybe she doesn't know Godfrey is a self made man. And he is not ashamed to admit it. I heard (she said) Godfrey make a joke about Truman. . . . All I can say is she doesn't know show business. Godfrey was in show business before we ever heard of Truman.

Elmhurst, Ill. — MRS. A. LORING

I think it would be a good idea to have a TV dancing school along the lines of Paul Fogarty's "Your Figure, Ladies." A lot of us could learn to dance this way.

Winthrop Harbor, Ill. — ESTHER R. MOELLER

. . . I wish I was just half as cute as Janette Davis. She is stuck on herself, but I would be too, if I were her. She's a cute little trick.

Racine, Wisc. — GRACE M. NIELSEN

My number one pet peeve—the endless mugging of Janette Davis and Mary Hartline. I thought that learning how to stop mugging was the number one lesson learned by entertainers.

Chicago, Ill. — EVELYNN HORVATH

I've shared foxholes with some rough boys in my day but that Marlin Perkins takes the cake. He's the roughest guy I've seen yet, handling the zoo's "gear," and keeping cool about it.

Chicago, Ill. — JOHN HOWELL

Studio One's presentation of Treasure Island was grand. We need more children's stories and plays instead of so many gangster and detective stories with their evil influence on children.

Aurora, Ill. — MRS. HOWARD CHASE

. . . If the impending cut of the Kuklapolitans takes place, there isn't much left of television for me. Somehow we'll have to keep the Kuklapolitans on or at least go down fighting.

Evanston, Ill. — DOLORES H. QUINT

KATE & TED—
It's Fun On Payday

EVEN that old American optimist Horatio Alger would blink at the success of Irishman Ted Collins. Mr. Collins is the fellow who, 22 years ago, purchased a fabulous out-sized chunk of singing charm known as Kate Smith and thereby became a millionaire. It wasn't easy. It took lots of imagination. But the rewards have been enough to make some of Horatio's more successful characters look like struggling Bob Cratchits.

Promotion-minded Ted spotted Kate in a Broadway musical called "Flying High." She was a big, brassy, red-hot mamma type songstress who played her role strictly for yaks. Destined to remain a hoochie-coochie fat-girl comic all her life, Kate was disheartened. Disheartened, that is, until "Svengali" Collins came on the scene.

Ted took over. He told Kate to forget about fat girl roles. He groomed her to sell a little sentimental corn instead of the usual Broadway vulgarities. He put her on the radio to spin homey yarns. He gave her an American flag to wave.

Then he sat back and watched the shekels roll in.

But making money isn't fun if you can't spend it, so Ted, like many fun-loving guys with fat bank accounts, became a sportsman. He bought a professional football club. And therein hangs a sad tale. The sound, shrewd showman took the most monumental thrashing, financially and spiritually, that an enterprising sports bug ever experienced. His team (the Boston Yanks, later the New York Yanks) lost—continuously and ignominiously.

A few months ago, a bit wiser and a million bucks poorer, he dropped his sportsman cloak and sold out. Sports columnist Dan Parker's comment on Ted's brave flop was this: "It would appear that Ted's Irish mother made only one mistake where he was concerned. She should have christened him Patsy."

Ted keeps busy, of course, by assisting Kate on her TV and radio shows. As a suave, urbane and purring commentator, he treats his meal ticket with a paternal reverence that has characterized his relations with Miss Smith since the two joined ranks.

Hardly the best emcee in TV, Ted has one special talent. He's a whiz at dividing by two. When pay day rolls around, the monotonous drone, "A million for you, Kate. A million for me. A million, etc." peals off his lips like a circus pitchman reciting an old, familiar spiel.

Yesiree, old Horatio Alger should have lived so long.

Ted Collins is seen with Kate Smith Mon. thru Fri. at 3:00 p.m. on channel 5 and each Wed. evening at 7:00 on the same channel.

"IT'S HOWDY DOODY

WHEN toddling, soft-headed babies begin to stare vacantly through their play-pen bars at a television show, it's time for mothers to worry. "What's TV doing to my kids?" mom asks. "If television is going to mold my little Hubert's life, I want to know what TV shows are good for him—and what ones are bad."

One way, of course, is to ask the kids. If the little Huberts and Johnnys and Spikes and Susies were ever corralled together to vote for their video favorite, they'd probably call for a voice vote, pick "Howdy Doody" unanimously and tear up the living room singing the new words to Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay ("It's How-dee DOO-dee Time").

If Hubert's and Johnny's and Spike's and Susie's parents had their way, the entire "Howdy Doody" voting bloc would be sent upstairs with bruised posteriors and no supper. The moms and pops—most of 'em—think Howdy's a pretty awful thing.

On the surface, "Howdy Doody" seems like a rather harmless little operation. The title role is played by a likeable, jug-eared puppet with a saucer-sized grin, big dimples and a collection of jumbo freckles that could pass for incipient measles. Decked out to look like a cowboy, Howdy doesn't tote a gun 'cause he's a peace loving critter.

His only foil is an old fuddy-duddy aptly dubbed Mr. Bluster who babbles like Senator Tobey of crime investigation fame. Bluster is a nagging old gent who is hissed and booed on occasion because of the grouchy way he thwarts our Howdy's modern ideas. Then there is a pitiful weakling named Dilly Dally and a disjointed hunk of animal, mysteriously labeled a Flub-a-Dub.

The human element includes a gravel-voiced 200 pounder named Bob Smith, the creator of the show who doubles as voice for Howdy, while playing the role of Buffalo Bob. Last, and by all odds least, is a male clown with the eyebrow-raising monicker of Clarabelle. Clarabelle spends most of his (her) time flitting around the premises prying laughs out of a "peanut gallery" of some forty kid guests.

The ingredients are that simple. Puppets, a couple of actors and forty kids. The other half of the show is devoted to slapstick films.

Somebody once winked and suggested that Howdy and the rest of the gang don't tote guns for a very sensible reason: guns, it seems, are kind of silly when plain old noise will do the trick.

Noise, or if you will, BEDLAM, is the order of the day for each stanza. Clarabelle delights the kids by chasing Buffalo Bob around the premises until a bug-eyed director gives the signal for Bob to do the chasing. When things get too dull, seltzer water bottles get the play. (The seltzer bottle gag has exceeded every expectation. Most children haven't the vaguest idea of the fizz bottle's real use. Which on second thought, is just as well).

Coherence has been flushed down the drain. If there is a story line only the imaginative mind of an eight year-old could grasp it. Howdy tangles with Bluster, who in turn arouses the energetic wrath of the kids in the studio. Clarabelle flits. Buffalo Bob shouts. The cast harps at one another. The kids get noisier. There's some healthy name calling. Buffalo Bob plays a tune on a musical instrument. And then the commercial.

TIME"

WHO'S RIGHT—PARENTS OR SMALL FRY?

"HOWDY" AND HIS CREATOR BOB SMITH.

Keystone cops jerk their way through the second portion of the shout-athon. Limp from their workout, kids and cast alike manage a lusty sign off for another 23½ hours until again chirping "It's How-dee-DOO-dee Time."

The biggest virtue mothers find in "Howdy Doody" is that it's the finest baby sitter available before the dinner hours. Their biggest objection: the show is a veritable nursing ground for just about every obnoxious juvenile habit extant. On the theory that kids are great imitators, parents become a little weary when Junior flits (like Clarabelle) into the dining room, blinks when he talks (like Howdy Doody) and shouts (like the entire cast) when he wants something.

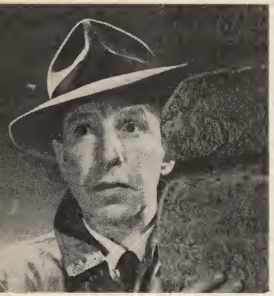
Taking this into consideration, the National Television Review Board last Fall placed "Howdy Doody" on its "objectionable" list, indicating the show was "loud, noisy and confused." Since that time, however, through the sincere efforts of Smith, producer Roger Muir and owner Martin Stone, "Howdy Doody" has improved patently.

Because it is such a favorite with impressionable kids, Smith, Muir and Stone have toned down the bustle, defined the story line better and in general aimed more at charming than confusing. The result is that "Howdy" has been reclassified "approved."

The success of "Howdy Doody" with the kiddies has been fantastic. Using the jaunty puppet's popularity for merchandising, there are on the market now such money making sidelights as Howdy Doody comic books, dolls, color books and a toy hurdy gurdy that plays "It's How-dee DOO-dee Time."

"Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay"? Who ever heard of that? —Thomas O'Malley

"Howdy Doody" is seen Mon. thru Fri. at 4:30, WNBQ.



One of TV's top private eyes, Martin Kane, makes life miserable for the police by outsleuthing them at every turn. Lloyd Nolan, seen here complete with the usual trenchcoat, is due to be replaced by Lee Tracy.

THOSE POOR

TV's Private Eyes

WHEN Senator Kefauver was conducting his investigations last spring on TV, he found, among other things, that many of the nation's policemen were misbehaving. TV fans weren't surprised. After years of watching mystery programs, they knew that the only way to get the job done right was to bypass the police and phone your friendly neighborhood private eye.

This method, while not very practical in real life, works very well in the movies and on radio and TV. For in this fictional world, most cops are bunglers and a private eye will solve your problems at the expense of a few rubber-hosed blows on the head.

Mike Barnett, the "Man Against Crime," has nothing but contempt for the police force. Mike, well-played by the movie's Ralph Bellamy, is a great one for going it alone. Just give him a nest of communist spies and he cares not who makes the nation's laws. Recently, Mike took a solo down into Chinatown and rounded up a gang of extortionists that were shaking down Chinese-American citizens. Naturally the extortionists were working for the Chinese Communist government. Mike, knowing full well the "worthlessness" of the FBI and the police, just employed his native fearlessness and a few well-placed fists.

Mike is also equipped with a special gun, not on the market at present. With this little item, you pull the trigger, a few seconds elapse, your victim falls and then the gun goes off. Mighty handy down there in Chinatown.

Martin Kane, Private Eye, is another of the trenchcoat brigade lacking in respect for coppers. Martin's friend Lt. Gray, one of New York's finest, is so awed by the Kane methods that sometimes he even lends a helping hand. The police used to resent Martin butting in on their cases, but they've come to realize that he's far more clever than they are and now they just sit back and let Martin do all the work.

Rocky King, Detective, ployed by Roscoe Korns, takes o more sympothetic view towords the police, with Rocky portraying a hard-boiled but efficient police detective.

COPS

Martin was a bit of a lush in his early TV days but now he's definitely reformed. His devotion to the youth of America was evidenced by his recent tangle with New York's largest dope-peddling ring. Martin can't stand those dope-peddlers and at last count he'd turned over at least twenty of them to the law, despite the interference of a "stupid" cop. Martin had a peddler trapped in the subway, but the cop got in the way and it took almost to the end of the program before they located the peddler again.

Competing with both the cops and the robbers is a pretty tough job for Martin Kane. The TV role has already used up two actors (William Gargan and Lloyd Nolan) and now it's being taken over by two-fisted Lee Tracy, who's really tough.

The most indestructible sleuth of 'em all is probably Boston Blackie. Blackie has been around for years, plaguing the days of the "hopelessly incompetent" Inspector Faraday. Faraday has always felt that Blackie was up to no good and often tries to pin unsolved crimes on him. This presents a challenge to Blackie who then manages to escape Faraday's clutches and solve the crime, too.

Recently Faraday has had a change of heart and now he and Blackie are bosom buddies. Faraday is a little jealous of Blackie's methods but he can't help admiring the results. Blackie can turn a bit of Sherlock Holmes logic (That girl's not a nurse or she wouldn't be wearing nylon stockings with that white uniform.) But it's in two fisted brawls that he really shines.

Blackie suffers from the famous occupational disease of all private-eyes, an admiration for a well-turned ankle. Blackie's girl friend Mary, who's pretty well-turned herself, somehow keeps him from getting involved with other women.

The new-and-improved Faraday is still a bumbler, but he's a likable little man just the same. The parts of Blackie, Faraday and Mary are played by three veterans of Hollywood B movies, Kent Taylor, Frank Orth and Lois Collier.

Of course, not all the cops on TV are full-blown idiots. Many crime shows have taken an equally dim view of the police and depicted them as blustering, high-handed bullies. Fortunately there's a small minority of mystery shows that treat the police for what they are—normal human beings.

"Dragnet," the Jack Webb opus, is usually pointed out as just about the most intelligent crime show on TV. Its cases are drawn from the crime files of the Los Angeles police department, Webb plays Sgt. Joe Friday, a smart, well-mannered cop, who plows his way through the drudgery that tracking down a criminal really requires.

In its attempt to show its characters as people as real as you and I, "Dragnet" sometimes goes off the deep end. The actors, underplaying their roles to the hilt, often give the unfortunate effect that they're mumbling to each other. But this is a minor complaint. By throwing crime into its true light as a sordid blight on society and policemen as decent upstanding citizens "Dragnet" is doing a very constructive public service.

Another cop doing the job is Rocky King, Detective, played by still another movie character actor, Roscoe Karns. Rocky talks out of the side of his mouth in the conventional manner, but at least on this show there is no attempt to lampoon the poor cops.

While it's a normal and sometimes healthy thing to give the raspberry to authority, maybe it would be a good idea for TV to lay off the much-maligned police department and direct its fire elsewhere. After all, cops can be people.

—Robert Cunniff

"TOMORROW" IS A BATTLE GROUND

IN THE never-never land of soap operas, sentiment is a cherished term. The suds manufacturers have struck a bottomless geyser in the heart of the American housewife merely by wringing sentiment out of paper dolls.

Each day the networks are full of sturdy characters bravely facing life, proving that romance doesn't die after 35, and trying to convince us that "Life can be beautiful!"

To these hordes has been added a new little band of pilgrims. Since last September, a few unfortunate souls have been stumbling over the video waves in a vague "Search For Tomorrow."

Never has an American family faced such grim prospects, such heart-rending tragedy in their attempts to illustrate the conflict between parents and children. The two forces are waging a super-human battle, armed with bullets of emotion. So far it's a draw and the soap companies aren't planning any truces until they stop raking in the suds.

The old-fashioned army is headed by stubborn Victor (Cliff Hall), and "understanding" mama Irene (Bess Johnson). The revolutionists include their son, Keith (John Sylvester); his wife, Joanne, whose problems even surpass those of Henry Aldrich, and their six-year-old daughter, Pati, a symbol of the new generation. Thrown into the fight just for romantic complications is Dr. Ned Hilton.

Until just a few weeks ago, Keith led his revolutionists with a plucky heart. Then he became troublesome. So the writers conveniently finagled a disaster, wrote in an auto accident and wrote Keith out of the script.

The cast has gone heavy on its sweet & sour portrayals. Mary Stuart as the courageous Joanne is a former reporter from Tulsa, Okla., who has been seasoned with the sugar of radio, movies and television experience. After a short run in Hollywood, she joined the tide of stars flowing back to New York television. Now she faces the future—and the cameras—with the air of a patriot doomed to death at the guillotine.

Lynn Loring as Pati makes a bright attempt to combine the appeal of Margaret O'Brien and Shirley Temple. As a three-year-old toddler she began her career as a photographer's model, appeared in commercial film shorts and finally drifted into television on such programs as "Studio One" and "Suspense." Now she's seaching for the formula which will make her a box office "name" like Shirley and Margaret. Lynn is tinkering with the faucet of emotion in the American public's hearts. But her strain is too strong and she's drenching the video screens with her own tears.

All the characters are searching for their individual tomorrows with a stolid assurance that it WILL come. So far it has successfully eluded them. And the writers apparently are making every attempt to guarantee a long run on television by keeping the discovery out of their reach.

—Shirley Elman

Search For Tomorrow can be seen at 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday on WGN-TV (Channel 9).

Joanne Barron (Mary Stuart) takes a rest from emoting to read to her television daughter, Pati (Lynn Loring) in "Search For Tomorrow."

I wish you would choke Jack Mabley for his demands for more drama. The air reeks with an excess of that maudlin, emotional poison already. We need more stuff like Lucy and Groucho.

I never liked being an "I told you so" type of person. But I was wondering how those people who wrote such derogatory letters a few months back concerning Bob & Ray felt when they were presented with a Peabody Award for outstanding programs.

Chicago, Ill. GRACE SINCLAIR

(Ed. Note: We like Bob & Ray, too, but their Peabody award was for their excellence on radio, not television.)

Dollars to donuts Barbara Mitchell never tried the "Charles Antell Formula No. 9." I have a feather cut and use this preparation and find it curls my hair by massaging in a circular motion. My hair isn't naturally curly, either.

It would be very hard for me to explain what I think of Dagmar. It would be nice if she would clear off TV until she learns how to dress.

Palos Park, Ill. G. W.

What happened to "Songs for Sale"? I always enjoyed this program very much.

Westmont, Ill. MRS. BETTY BURDI

(Ed. Note: "Songs for Sale" is not carried in Chicago due to local sponsorship of the Roller Derby on channel 4.)

On Backstage Diary the people approach the chair as though it were electric. . . . I'm waiting for Marty O'Shaughnessy to correct Bonnie Weber at least once and stop her from wiggling.

Chicago, Ill. DOROTHY PINKERTON

I'm all for movie "oldies" shown on TV. You can always see the present day movies at your neighborhood theaters—but on these old films . . . it's like meeting an old friend you haven't seen for years.

East Chicago, Ind. MRS. HAROLD WEATHERFORD

UNPREDICTABLE WILLIE

IN the pre-labor hours of the morning while the white collar forces are preparing their mass attacks on the transportation system, the booming tones of a disc jockey can be heard cautioning his "brood": "Better wear your rubbers, gals; it's gonna rain." "Ya need a topcoat today, kiddies; temperature's droppin' way down."

Then at noon this early bird curbs his joviality, adopts a mock seriousness, slicks back his hair and behold, he's a television emcee. But his solemn mood doesn't last. Bill Evans, humorist at heart, can't resist sneaking in such gems as "I once knew a girl who was married so many times her towels were embroidered 'Hers' and 'To Whom It May Concern.'"

Theoretically, the Bill Evans show is an informal session of chatter, interview and trivia. But with this unpredictable emcee before the cameras, it frequently turns into a humor melee. Bill has gathered a stockpile of material founded in his philosophy: "Know a little bit about a lot of things." From this well of information he pulls bucketsful of quips, homespun yarns and pertinent questions, all subtly designed to put his guests at ease.

Bill bridged the gap between radio and TV back in 1950 when he took on his present show. During the past two years he has fluctuated between 15-minute, ½ hour and hour presentations.

Since his first television appearance, he has marched a glittering array of talent before the cameras including such names as Abbe Lane, Emily Kimbrough, Cobina Wright, Jeff Chandler, Barbara Payton, Eddie Fisher and Frankie Laine.

He has also entertained some novelties among his 700 guests. There have been girl softball teams, a Comanche princess, all-American football heroes and wrestlers. And although he didn't get many gratifying replies, he even attempted to wrest some opinions from a mule, a polo pony and beagle hounds.

He is Chicago's Arthur Godfrey with slight variations. Without the ukulele, lacking the support of Marion Marlowe and Frank Parker, and a little heartier than the freckled, red-headed imp of the networks, he's just as impudent as his alter ego.

Armed with a degree in education from the University of Wisconsin, Bill set out in 1935 to carve a radio career for himself. Auditioners sneered at his delivery. Not smooth enough, they said. But the well-modulated tones they wanted were good only as insomnia cures. So, Bill went back to his animated style. In 1942 he crashed Chicago's air waves and now he's flexing his wings in video.

The Bill Evans trademark is an infectious grin. Bill explains it with: "Who wouldn't smile at getting paid for talking?"

The Bill Evans Show can be seen at noon Mon. thru Fr. on channel 4.

GUESS THESE MYSTERY FACES

The photo-negatives of famous faces often give you a different view of what a celebrity looks like. This is the fourth in a series of quizzes in which you try to guess the TV star's identity by looking at a negative of one of their pictures. Score 10 points for each answer. If you get a score of 70, you're up on your television.

"THE CHILDREN'S HOUR" ROUGH ON CRITIC

by JACK MABLEY

People who write about television shouldn't be called television critics. I would prefer to be known by the more accurate term of TV kibitzer.

Magazine and newspaper criticism of music, the theatre, art, literature, and movies is a fairly exact science, conducted under controlled conditions, in an auditorium, a museum, or a library.

A man who reviews, or criticizes television programs usually watches those programs in his living room, and is subjected to constant harassment.

Ringing phones. "Daddy, buy me a popsicle. DADDY! I want a POPSICLE!" "If you'd get off your big cushion and help with these dishes I could get something done around here." "Daddy, I don't like this program."

All this is a prelude to a reversal of opinion on Abbott and Costello. These boys have left me cold in early appearances. But in their latest show on the Comedy Hour, they seemed to be two of the funniest guys on TV. Either they're improving, or conditions are getting better in our living room.

Bud and Lou are slapstick artists. Two of their bits on their most recent show—trying to sleep in a hammock, and Costello singing a duet with a dog —are classic pieces of hokum. They also demonstrated that you can be extremely funny without being dirty, and also without making cracks at the President.

I hope that some of the folks who are inclined to snub Abbott and Costello—as I was—have the fun of rediscovering them, as I did.

The invasion of television by the big-name news commentators has begun with Drew Pearson's debut on ABC. Pearson sat at a desk and talked, and showed a few pictures. He has an easy manner and a great deal of poise. He is one of the better news salesmen and on the strength of his beginning I predict Drew Pearson will have a long career in television.

News on television and radio is a 50–50 proposition—half gathering the news, and half selling. The greatest reporter I ever knew, Ed Lahey of the Daily News, is totally unimpressive on TV. One of the worst reporters alive, Walter Winchell, is a sensation on radio, and undoubtedly will do just as well on TV if he comes in.

Chicago has a happy and rare combination of sound newsmen who also can sell news on the air. Clifton Utley and Austin Kiplinger have made the greatest impact with their excellent news backgrounds and screen personalities. Spencer Allen and Ulmer Turner are solid newsmen who give straightforward news presentation with a dash of salesmanship.

Edward R. Murrow and John Cameron Swayze are two of the best known newsmen in television, and both of them really ham it up.

Happily, however, both have excellent news sense, and their method of selling the news is just as legitimate as a newspaper presenting its pictures or its front page makeup in dramatic fashion.

If you'd like to spend some time in the yard this spring, and still not miss your favorite TV shows, you might do what a Wilmette family did. I was driving on Glenview road in Wilmette a couple of Sundays back and saw a whole family sitting around under a tree in the yard, watching television.

"If you must resort to mudslinging, Senator, kindly keep it verbal."

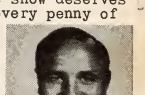
DEAR BOSS:

That Strike It Rich show strikes me wrong. As a viewer I resent a big-time soap-maker dangling money and prizes over the heads of needy souls like a cat playing with a stageful of mice. To me it is a thinly disguised form of torture both for the contestants (whose I Q's are often as threadbare as their bank accounts) and for the anxious viewers. I say the philanthropy is wonderful and the show deserves full credit for every penny of help it gives—but why put charity on an intellectual basis? Let's not drag human sympathy and heartache through the quiz-keyhole just to create a scene.



COMFORTABLE WAYNE

Wayne King is a smart fellow. He's a musician so he fills his show with music—fresh, clean, applecheeked music from start to finish. Nothing great; much of it corny, but still 30 minutes of something Wayne feels comfortable in. (He may not LOOK it when he takes the sax out of his mouth but that isn't too often.)

Yes, Wayne gives me no Payne—he's just a pleasant musicmaker. Not so, Jimmy Melton whose Ford Festival is produced by something known as James Melton Enterprises! Five writers they got. And some of the lousiest comedy sketches they produce. Did you see that turkey with Arlene Francis and Zasu Pitts? It was so horrible our canary called for the sheet over his cage.

You know TV has made a veritable goldfish bowl of our weary old world. There is so little privacy left these days. Pity the helpless, innocent, major-brand cigarettes that must be stripped of their paper right in front of thousands of ogling viewers a dozen times a week. Where will it all end?

Backstage Diary

—by Marty O'Shaughnessy

CHICAGO—Now that the turmoil is over, it's only fair to cast posies in deserved directions—towards Courtesy Man Jim Moran and columnist Irv Kupcinet. Both have staged wonderful telethons, Moran on behalf of the Cancer Drive, and Kup for Cerebral Palsy. Both TV drives were models of sincere enthusiasm and good taste. And both were great successes.

KUP

Our friendship for Jim is probably well known. Perhaps not so well known is the recent cool feeling between ourselves and Kup. It probably started when our readers voted the "Mr. and Mrs. Kup" show the worst on local television. The big fella was understandably nettled about this, and subconsciously blamed us for running the Awards Poll. Well, the fans spoke and that decision stands in the records.

But records should be complete. After watching the recent Cerebral Palsy telethon, and the capable sparkplugging done by Kup thru a man-killing schedule, our hats go off to the big fella. He did a fine thing for handicapped kids, and a topflight job on behalf of Chicago. Nice going, Kup.

Incidentally, Moran's girl Friday—Dorothy Kirkpatrick—leaves May 24 for Miami to do some TV writing there. Good luck. . . . Pat Tobin, the svelte blonde of channel 7's "Trade Inn," is celebrating her 5th year in TV.

"A great deal of information which even some of our professional politicians might profit from reading."—J. Emil Smith (Editor & Publisher—Illinois State Journal)

"I have read every page of this fascinating publication with keenest zest and pleasure." —Herald C. Hunt (Board of Education)

"Congratulations."—Ulmer Turner (WBKB)

WGN-TV salutes Fohrman Motors and the tremendous Fohrman family on May 24 with a special 30 minute telecast starting at 7:30 p.m. A special team including singer Peggy Taylor and the five Star-Noters, along with narrator Vince Lloyd, will put on a 40th Anniversary show that will go clear back to the days of the Gibson Girl.

BEN FOHRMAN

Ben Fohrman founded his motor company in 1912. He early saw the possibilities of TV and has plunged consistently ever since—wrestling with Russ Davis on WBKB and WGN-TV, Cubs baseball two years ago, the 4-leaf Clover theatre, and now Saturday night wrestling from Marigold.

Ben's big help comes from his sons—Sid (36 years old) who is best known for his friendly airwaves feud with Howard Miller. Sid is an ex-G.I., married, with 3 daughters. Then there's Ed (30 years), a bachelor from U. of Chicago, who's gained a following in his short time on TV. Other sons not yet in the video picture are Sherwood (22) and little Cary (10).

Birthday note—Forecast is celebrating its fourth birthday this month (the first TV program magazine in the field). Despite the modest objections of the publishers, here's the first of a series:

VIHON

Les Vihon. 33 years old. Attended McPherson grade school, Amundsen High and Northwestern night school. Bombardier and 1st Lt. during World War II. Shot down over Steyer, Austria. Prisoner of War at Stalag Luft No. 3 (Germany) and Stalag 7A (Austria). Total POW time—16 months. Married Kathryn Smith of Lynchburg, Tenn., in Jan., 1942. Three children: Lyle (5½), Gregory (4) and Leslie Kay (2½).

TV Bolsters Davey's Stock and Pursestrings

NOW they're talking about matching Chuck Davey, the intellectual southpaw, with Rocky Graziano or Kid Gavilan. This, of course, is a tactical move on the part of Chuck's managers to accelerate his pace toward fatter purses. However, before the handsome redhead can move into the big chips, he must fulfill his oft-postponed fight with Carmen Basilio in Syracuse. Then, he must meet at least one more leading contender the caliber of Billy Graham, Bobby Dykes or Gil Turner before earning a crack at Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

Sportscaster Steve Ellis, pale and disgruntled after televising those ten calamitous rounds of the Vejar-Davey fight, paused long enough in the dressing room to pay tribute to WBKB. "That Jimmy Holmes," said Ellis, "is about the finest teevee director I have yet run across. With Jimmy at my side and Harry Birch handling the cameras, you can work with confidence."

Cuffnotes: Light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim's title defense against Sugar Ray Robinson on June 23 may be kept off the telewaves. . . . The official season of the Thillens Major League and Pony League, will get underway Saturday night, May 31 at Thillens Stadium at Devon & Kedzie in Chicago. . . . CROW ROOST IN WILL COUNTY? . . .

After perching himself on a shoky limb when he picked Chico Vejor to upset Chuck Davey, TV Forecast sports editor Ed Pazdur suffered the consequences. After reading Ed's article (far left), Chuck Davey paid him a visit for the express purpose of southpowing a little "crow" into our sports editor's goping mouth.

Part II

THE CASE OF That Slightly

SPORTSCASTER Tom Duggan usually is a target of intense feeling among his viewers—they either love him or hate him. But at present writing, no major split of opinion exists among the Chicago Fourth Estate.

With one notable exception, the TV and sports writers have joined gleefully in clobbering Duggan and his pop-off manner. One of Duggan's favorite expressions is "such & such may happen but only over my slightly battered body."

If Tom's body IS battered, it's because of no general assault, but rather from the quiet plunk-plunking of typewriter keys.

Daily News critic Jack Mabley has calmly dismissed him with the label of "Loudmouth." Herald-American columnist Janet Kern, in a sudden about-face from her usual "loner" attitude, flatly declared that more & more people aren't listening to Duggan these days.

*Sun-Times*man Bill Irvin seldom mentions Tom's name. The single exception among the dailies is Anton Remenih of the Tribune. Seemingly intoxicated with the smell of blood, "Tony" Remenih wrote two glowing columns about Duggan, topped rather boldly with the headline—A FRESH, FRANK, FEARLESS GUY! THAT'S DUGGAN.

Logically enough, Duggan's biggest rebuffs come from the field of sports and the writers who cover it. And to give credit where it's due, Honest Tom seldom draws a knuckle-rapping without asking for it.

Rocky Graziano

For example, when sportswriter Francis Powers left the Daily News' "Voice From The Grandstand" column, and Newsman Jack Ryan took over that department, Duggan publicly hinted that the replacement was dug up from underneath a rock. Ryan immediately realized it was a crude stab at publicity and therefore not deserving of an answer in his newspaper.

Another time, Duggan was asked to leave the press box at the baseball park by Edgar Munzel, the press box chairman. The reason, of course, is that the facilities there are restricted to accredited members of the Baseball Writers Association, of which Duggan is not a member. But for several broadcasts after that, both the Association and Munzel were subjected to considerable ridicule.

It remained for Gene Kessler, the respected dean of Chicago boxing experts, to put an effective kibosh on Duggan. Disagreeing with Kessler on a boxing column, Honest Tom uncorked a slashing tirade on the air. The net result was most unfortunate—for Duggan. The good-natured Kessler had had enough.

In his Sun-Times sports column, he painstakingly and exhaustively reviewed the case (it concerned a King Levinsky fight), pointing out time after time where he had been right and a certain "Mr. Sound-Off" had been wrong. The crusher came in the last paragraph.

"Of course," wrote Kessler, "his name isn't 'Mr. Sound-Off.' But then, it isn't Duggan, either."

Actually, Tom Duggan's real name is Goss. Duggan is his former middle name, and no doubt, he felt that the change would sound better. There's absolutely nothing sinister about it—it happens in show business all the time.

Looking at Duggan objectively, one wonders how a nice guy like that can keep getting into trouble. It's granted that Tom's a little old to be constantly playing the kid in the forbidden cookie jar. But both on & off camera, he's a likable sort of guy, mischievous and forgivable.

For example, Tom's immediate predecessor on the WNBQ program schedule is newscaster Clifton Utley, a kind of jet-propelled Clifton Fadiman. Utley's program is tense and rapid-fire, and once he misses his verbal rhythm, the results get a little scrambled.

On a recent Utley telecast, Clifton started jamming up, and finally with an obvious expression of annoyance, asked someone beyond the camera range to stop playing "catch" in the studio. Sure enough, it was Duggan, apparently in need of exercise and with several minutes to kill before his own show.

Gene Kessler

How good a sportscaster is Duggan? His channel 5 programs have healthy audience ratings. He attracts wide attention with his onslaughts against all & various aspects of the sports field. But his accuracy leaves something to be desired.

Last fall, many fans used both radio & TV on the same football game, with hilarious results. Because the TV camera actually told them what was happening on the gridiron, while on radio, Duggan's play-by-play account of the same game was both colorful and boisterous—but considerably behind the action.

Duggan's campaigns are little masterpieces of showmanship, as far as they go. The point is—how far do they go?

Before the Sugar Ray Robinson-Rocky Graziano fight at the Stadium, Duggan severely criticized Graziano's associates, namely hoodlum Eddie Coco. Honest Tom declared the fight would be held over his own "slightly battered body." He also darkly suggested that any fight fan who attended was practically unworthy of citizenship.

What happened? The Stadium set a new bulging attendance record. Incidentally, the International Boxing Club, then & now a favorite Duggan target, has the deepest regard for Tom as its greatest press agent.

Another time, Duggan started lambasting certain members of the harness racing commission as undesirables. He consistently urged viewers to write protests directly to Governor Adlai Stevenson. A check with the governor's office confirmed that a grand total of 8 letters was received.

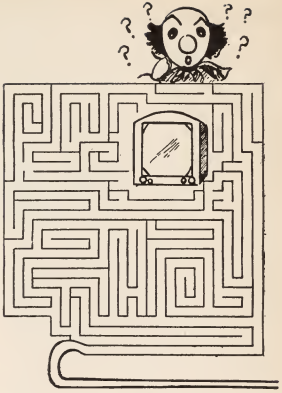
NEXT WEEK—The third installment on The Case of Tom Duggan. . . . Has controversy paid off for him? . . . . What's his background for sportscasting? . . . . How much good has he done for sports? . . . . Don't miss the next chapter on the midwest's most controversial sportscaster.

MOLLYCUES

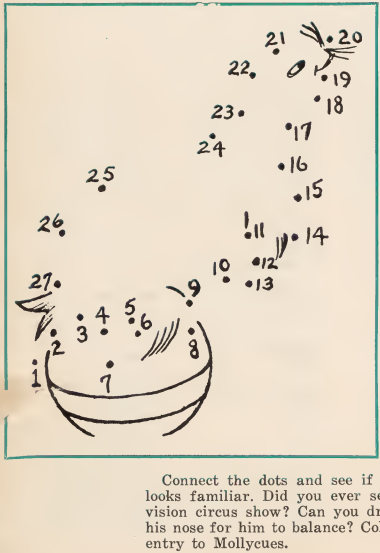
by MOLLY POTKIN

COPYRIGHT 1952

Our friend Kukla seems to be a little confused. He's trying to find his way to the studio so you can see him on television. There's only one correct path he can take. Can you draw it in with a pencil?



Mail your entries to Mollycues, % TV Forecast, 185 N. Wabash Avenue, Chicago 1, Ill., before Monday, June 2. First prize in each contest is $1; second prize, 50 cents; next 15 prizes, 25 cents each. In case of ties, winners will be judged on neatness and originality. Solution to this week's puzzle will appear here next week.



Connect the dots and see if this little animal looks familiar. Did you ever see him on a television circus show? Can you draw something on his nose for him to balance? Color and mail your entry to Mollycues.

Answer to last week's question in the letter was "Zooparade." The letter should have read: "Dear Dora, on Sunday, I saw a television show that was tops. I saw elephants, bears, tigers, lions and monkeys. Be sure to watch for it. Can you tell what this program is? Fred."

ROY STARKEY'S

Silhouettes of The West

There are two things that have made the West a place of undying interest to folks all over the nation—the colorful cowboy, and more important, the mystery surrounding its vast frontiers.

For there are lost fortunes still hidden in its mountains waiting to be discovered . . . there are many things that have been discovered that can't be explained, even by a native westerner.

In the early days, the West was a brutal land, roamed over and ruled by a tough group of men who lived and died with a cold, deadly outlook on everything. Still, even though the nearest neighbors in Mexico slaughtered bulls and horses every year under the disguise of a national sport—bullfighting—never has the westerner allowed it in his lands.

In Spain today, it is said that 7,000 horses and 1,800 bulls are killed each season in bullfights. The westerner said from the beginning that it was a useless slaughter of horses and livestock.

Western history is filled with stories of men who were known killers, but who still found time to help honest, God-fearing people drive rascals into oblivion, by replacing the law of the six-gun with the law of the courts.

So here's to our American West . . . the home of the cowboy and unexplained mysteries . . . where white trails of alkali wind endlessly through its wastelands and deserts . . . and the sun-bleached bones of cattle and simple wooden crosses are its national shrines.

Once again, Kukla Fran and Ollie have shown how they love kids all over the world. Along with boss Burr Tillstrom (center), the Kuklapolitans have donated books for children's libraries in such far-off places as the Philippine Islands, Finland, Italy and Germany.

Burr and Fran Allison sent their books through CARE, the good will organization that helps poor people in other countries. Hurrah for our Kuklapolitans—they have hearts of gold.

Now here are some of my weekly winners:

Pat Coughlin, Hommond, Ind; Doniel DeLeury, South Bend, Ind; Corroll Gilkison, Steger, Ill; John Huss, Evonston; Janet Kallum, Moywood, Ill; Ronald Keener, Chicago; Judy Kratschmer, Elmwood Park, Ill; Betty Mason, Chicago; Ronald Matlon, Whiting, Ind; Fronk Mourer; Skokie, Ill; Barbaro Nelson, LaPorte, Ind; Diane Novit, Chicago; Ronald Rodomski, Chicago; Sandra Remus, Cicero, Ill; Janice Romme, Bensenville, Ill; Leslie Thimmig Jr., Joliet, Ill; Irene Weinberg, Chicago

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST—How many different foreign countries can you name? For the longest list, I'll award $1; next longest, 50 cents; and next 15 runners-up, 25 cents each. Mail your list to Uncle Herbie, % TV Forecast, 185 N. Wabash avenue, Chicago 1, Ill. before Sunday, June 1. Neatness will count.
